

May 2010

Dear Friends of the Skepsi Gallery,

It is with emotion we write to inform you that the Skepsi Gallery will be moving from the Swanston premise as from July 31st, 2010.

It is time for change and time to do business differently.

Running the Skepsi Gallery from Swanston Street Carlton has been a cherished experience these past 10 years, working with our customers and our artists has been a joy.

Our plan is to source a new location, suitable for a gallery and museum, a place to continue to exhibit and sell Australian studio ceramics and show Australian historical ceramic works. To find a suitable location will naturally take some time and we will keep in touch with the new Skepsi details. Please keep in contact with us through our email and watch our website which we will update regularly.

We sincerely thank you for your loyal and continuing support and look forward with enthusiastic anticipation to sharing together the exciting exhibitions, artists talks and forums that are planned for the future. Our final exhibition at the Swanston Street location will be an exhibition by Greg Daly, running from June 1st - June 19th.
